

Stories from the Past, Today's Voices, and Opportunities for Tomorrow's Leaders

2017 Alaska PTA Annual Convention

April 28th – 29th, 2017 BP Energy Center, Anchorage, AK

Welcome to the 2017 Alaska PTA Convention “Stories from the Past, Today's Voices, and Opportunities for Tomorrow's Leaders!”

It is our pleasure to have you join us on Friday and Saturday, April 28th & 29th at the BP Energy Center in Anchorage, Alaska for two fun filled days of exciting and engaging PTA information statewide and from our national representatives.

We have compiled a packed schedule of workshops, breakout sessions, and networking opportunities to engage every participant for the two day event. Joining us during our convention will be:

Macy Kenworthy

Macy Rae Kenworthy is an Arctic Youth Ambassador from Kotzebue. The Arctic Youth Ambassadors program was established by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service-Alaska Region, U.S. Department of the Interior, and U.S. Department of State in partnership with nonprofit partner Alaska Geographic.

Donald Dunn

Donald Dunn sits on the National PTA Board of Managers. From North Carolina, Mr. Dunn has held many positions with the North Carolina PTA, most recently serving as President from 2013 – 2015.

Darlene Harris

Darlene Harris is currently a member on the National PTA Board of Directors. She also serves on National PTA's Field Service committee. In addition to her service at the national level, Harris is the executive vice president, membership chair and senior grad night chair for Eastlake High School PTSA.

Harris has been involved with PTA for over 13 years. Previously, she has held positions including National PTA Nominating and Leadership Development Committee member, California PTA Membership Commission member, district resource development specialist and Eastlake High School PTSA president.

Outside of PTA, Harris' service includes chairing the Boy's Golf Team Booster Club, membership on the San Francisco State University Parent Council and being a PGA Farmers Insurance Open Hospitality Ambassador Lead.

Stay tuned for more dynamic presenters!

Don't delay registering, we have limited seats available because of the dynamic presenters, you won't want to miss out on this year's Alaska PTA Convention! Register today!
